Dear Sir:

Engineering Open House is almost upon us and the work in most areas is proceeding quite well. However, there are two items with which you may be able to help us.

In an attempt to eliminate some confusion among our visitors, we are going to place information booths around the engineering campus. We would like to obtain small cars such as Volkswagens for this. The cars would be parked at four or five corners as weatherproof booths. If you have a qualified car and would like to volunteer its use for all or part of the two days of March 10 and 11, please contact Harry Ekdahl (URH Weston 414, C.; 332-2062), Professor R. L. Wright (417 Engineering Hall; 333-1328), or myself (332-1182).

Another problem which we have is manpower. For the two days we will need over 1500 workers or over a third of the college's enrollment. Although engineers are usually pictured as introverted, anti-social critters, the engineering college has a student participation record not even approached by any other college. There is a recruitment difficulty though due to the number needed.

The General Engineering Department has a program which might be copied by either other departments or individual instructors. Students in S.E. 103 and 104 are given credit for a perfect "class plate" if they work two hours during EOH. This has provided many workers for both the department and the Central Committee the past few years.

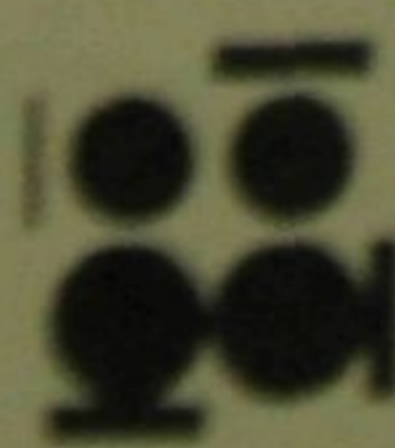

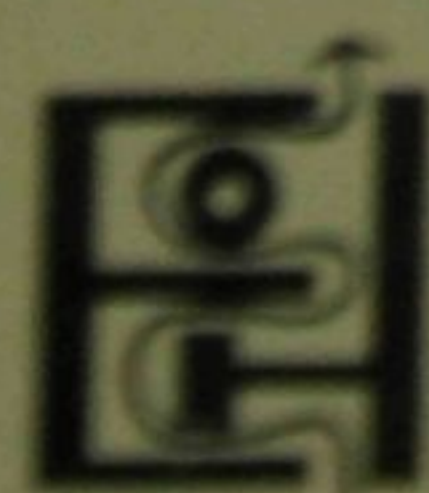

In view of the above, the Central Committee would like to suggest that each instructor consider a similar system. Upon presentation of a signed form, a student would be given credit for a perfect homework paper or quiz, get points added to a bad exam score or whatever was best suited to a particular class.

Your participation would be of great value to both us and your department. Enclosed is a form to ease your paperwork. It should be returned before February 17.

Sincerely,

Rex Hinkle
